For Immediate Release

Discount Deadline Extended

Dallas, TX, May 15, 2009 CONSTRUCT2009 and The TFM Show announce the extension of the Early-Bird Discount for attendee registration to May 21, 2009. The discount offers free exhibit hall admission and discounted education packages. Those that register for the event will have the opportunity to take advantage of the professional accredited education, expanded networking opportunities and a full exhibit hall floor featuring over 250 companies.

The key industry event encompasses the planning, design, engineering, specifying, construction, renovation and operation of the commercial building industry. Both CONSTRUCT, the premier event for the commercial building industry and The TFM Show, an event for senior executive facility managers, offer the latest products and solutions to architects, engineers, facility managers/owners, specifiers, designers, general contractors and all professionals in the commercial building industry. "We extended the deadline another week to continue to make our event affordable in this economy." Jayne Dalton, Show Manager notes, "We are finding that attendees want to gain a competitive advantage in these challenging times by taking advantage of the opportunities to advance their education and meet face-to face with other industry professionals and vendors all in one place."

CONSTRUCT2009 and The TFM Show are offering substantial education programs, expanded networking, special activities including golf and an Indians ballgame, a spouse/guest program, technical tours, on-floor education and CSI member events which are attracting attendees from all over the world. The education program is offered June 16-19, 2009 and the exhibits are open June 17-19, 2009 at the Indiana Convention Center, Indianapolis, Indiana. The event is held in conjunction with the 53rd CSI Annual Convention. Online registration and more information are available at CONSTRUCTshow.com and TheTFMshow.com.
