The New Norm:

The comfort zone

"It's not about change It's about sudden and abrupt and uncontrollable change."

—Immelt, CEO
General Electric

Six Deadly Management Myths

1. Focus on what you do best...

"This is an environment of opportunity, but you have to bring your A game."

-Bob Stevens, CEO
Lockheed Martin

2. People are a company's most valuable asset...

Good People...

Managers	Leaders	Visionaries

3. If you want it done right...

"I call them into consultation on any new work..."

-Columella, 100 A.D.
Minister of Agriculture, Rome

4. Metrics will keep your organization on track...

5. Systems are the key to growth...

"When the rate of change outside your organization exceeds the rate of change inside your organization, the end is in sight."

-Drucker

Today's Agile Leader

"The formulation of a problem is far more essential than its solution... which may be merely a matter of mathematical skill."

-Albert Einstein
